By Associated Press.
Washington, Jan. 21.—While the American government today awaited Great Britain's explanation of the seizure of the American steamer Greenbrier, it developed that American sailors of her crew, as well as those of the steamer Carolyn, had been arrested by German authorities at Bremen.

In a brief dispatch informing the state department that the sailors had been released from detention and were now free to join their ships when they sailed, the American consul gave the first intimation that the sailors had been arrested, and added no details.

Officials here could only suppose that the men might have been arrested for misconduct ashore or possibly detained until the departure of their ship to suppress any military information they might gain.

RUSSIANS SEEKING TO CROSS VISTULA

FIGHTING ALONG RIVER FOR DISTANCE OF ABOUT 50 MILES

SAY GERMANS ON DEFENSIVE

Austrians Now Reported Using 42 Centimeter Guns, But With Little Success

By Associated Press.
Perograd, Jan. 21.—Along a 60-mile front Ciechanow to the south of Mlawa, to Dobrzyn on the Vistula, twelve miles from Plock, the Germans are on the defensive against the Russian advance toward East Prussia. Heavy artillery engagements have occurred at various points along the line.

Meanwhile the struggle is in progress for possession of the left bank of the Vistula from its junction with the Bzura at Wiszograd westward to Dobrzyn a distance of approximately 50 miles. Possession by the Russians of Wizsgograd and a footing on the left bank of the Bzura in that vicinity affords them a base for their operation against the Germans who are in force to the west of that position and effectively prevents a movement on Novo Georgiewsk which has been the German objective in the advance toward Warsaw from the north. In endeavoring to retake trenches captured by the Russians immediately west of Wizsgograd the Germans are reported to have lost 900 men.

Southward from Tarnow, Galicia the Austrians have employed for the first time, the famous German 42-centimeter guns, in an effort to dislodge the Russians from their position along the Dunajek River. According to reports received here they have been unsuccessful having been forced to retreat to the northwest leaving the Russian position intact. Russian officers are of the opinion that the heavy German guns are an impediment rather than aid to the Austrians on account of the bad roads and the long distances it is necessary to transport the guns.

FIGHTING AT MANY POINTS ALONG LINE

SEVERAL POSITIONS ARE INVOLVED IN BATTLES IN FRANCE

ARTILLERY FIGHTS FEATURE

Vosges Contest Is Being Waged Northwest of Sennheim, Says Official Berlin Report

By Associated Press.
Berlin, Jan. 21.—The official statement of the war office today reads: "In the western theatre of the war only artillery duels took place yesterday between the sea and the Lys. Trenches at Notre Dame de Lorette which we occupied on the day before yesterday were lost again today. Northeast of Arras the French repeatedly attacked both sides of the road from Arras to Lille, but were repulsed.

"Southeast of Berry-au-Bac we took two trenches from the French and kept them notwithstanding their fierce counter-attacks. French attacks on our positions south of St Mihiel were repulsed.

"Northwest of Pont-a-Mousson we succeeded in recapturing the positions we evacuated three days ago. In that vicinity our troops captured four cannon and several prisoners. Fighting still continues for the remainder of the lost trenches.

"In the Vosges northwest of Sennheim battles still proceed. The situation in East Prussia remains the same. An unimportant engagement to the east of Leitnow ended favorably for us; 100 prisoners remained in our hands."

RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE NOW BEGINNING TO ASSERT ITSELF

Three Armies Trying To Advance In East—Roumanian Troops May Enter Soon

RIVER RHINE OBJECTIVE OF ALLIES IN WEST

French Trenches Said To Be Only 16 Miles Away—German Reports Still Optimistic, However

By Associated Press.

London, Jan. 21.—Russia's threefold assault on the Germanic allies has in the opinion of English observers of war, resumed its steam roller characteristics alike in the north, the center and the south. In the north the advance into East Prussia is reported as threatening the German lines of communication and in Poland the trench warfare continues with small results for either side, but the Russians confidently dwell on what they call large German losses, in efforts to hold present positions.

In the South, the Russians declare that the Austrian resistance seems to have broken down entirely and that Transylvania lies open to them.

Reports of Roumania's long-awaited entrance into the fight continue to circulate; one rumor today has it, however, that Roumania will not immediately declare war but that she will throw troops into Transylvania, which is Hungarian territory, for the purpose of protecting Roumanian nationals.

Meanwhile, German official utterances continue optimistic. The communications given out every day say the situation in the eastern theatre of war remains unchanged. Certain semi-official summaries of events, received in London by wireless telegraphy from Berlin, are somewhat more communicative. Such a message received recently said the Russians had some successes in which their losses were heavy and that the Turks have been operating successfully in the Caucasus and are now marching on Egypt.

Telegrams reaching here from Berlin record the arrival there of Archduke Charles Francis, the Austrian crown prince, and Dr. Betham-Hollweg, the German imperial chancellor, who are to be joined shortly by M. Burian, the new minister of foreign affairs, presumably for a conference regarding a plan of campaign against Russia as well as the adoption of suitable measures gainst Russia as well as the adoption of suitable measures against the prospective entrance into the war of Italy and Roumania.

Recent dispatches from Sweden indicate that German airship attacks on the new Finnish railroad between Sweden and Russia are beginning to be expected. This is the line that runs around the northern end of the Gulf of Bothnia. Its destruction would be a serious blow to Russia as the only other routes of communication between Russia and her allies are by way of the Baltic Sea or through Archangel on the north. The former route has been made impassable by mines and the latter is to be cut off by the ice.

In the western arena of the war the activity has been generally confined to artillery exchanges, except to the south of Metz where sharp fighting promises interesting developments.

Fighting between Austrians and Montenegrins which has been almost at a standstill on account of the winter weather and heavy snows has resumed across the border from Catarro. The Austrians bombarded Montenegrin positions, it is said, at Cettinje, but no damage was inflicted.

The allies now have their eyes on the River Rhine and British troops may be sent to Belfort in eastern France to take part in any possible advance toward the river, says a Geneva report, which lacks verification, however. It is stated that the advanced French trenches are within sixteen miles of the Rhine.

WAR IN ITS RELATION TO JUDAISM DISCUSSED

New York Rabbi Speaks On This Subject Before Audience In Chicago

By Associated Press

Chicago, Jan —Dr Samuel Schulman, Rabbi of the Temple Bethel, New York, who delivered an address Monday before the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, on the subject of "The War and Judaism," said the profoundest cause of the war was the intense nationalism which prevailed in all thought

"Nationalism," he continued, seems to overshadow all consideration of universal human interest, all questions of humanity Everything seems to have been concentrated into the self-glorification of the nation It has come to worship itself, to limit the world to its national horizon No nation is as yet ready to sacrifice itself for humanity even as the individual is called upon to sacrifice himself for the state or nation No nation has outgrown its barbaric childhood, it has not become mature, if it has not made its guiding principle a consideration for the interests of humanity, if it does not look upon mankind as larger than itself and a nobler ideal than its own aggrandizement or glorification"

Conception of Ideal State

Dr Schulman said he believed the idea of nation based on race was wrong and that it was destined to pass away The ideal state should be based on the rights of men, irrespective of race or creed, he said

"It is not kings alone, as is sometimes superficially said," Dr Schulman continued, "that brings on war. Democracies may hurl themselves into a war It is the tremendous selfish interests, the terrible passions, the unreasoning hatreds of men that break out into the fury of war. Let us therefore not be self-righteous, let us be fair, even as we are sympathetic towards the unfortunate people of Europe that are engaged in this that greatest war of history

"The conflict had been preparing for decades Every nation that is in the war today is there because it wished it If it willed to be out of it, it would have found another way And this will and this wish, prepared for decades, and the very preparation brought on the conflict This is the tragic irony of human limitation and contradiction in life A nation cannot, should not remain unprepared It is a crime for any nation to leave itself unprotected, exposed to the arbitrary might of any other nation. The heaping up of the magazine makes it possible that any spark will explode it"

The war has not proven the failure of religion, Dr. Schulman asserted

"Thousands no doubt all over the world, have had their faith shaken Men and women have asked, Where is God?"

Has Praise for Wilson

"God may be at a distance He may seem to hide Himself, but He is nevertheless real and active in the world's history Aye, in the profound and tragic sense, He is even amidst the horrors of this war From time to time there come upon the world great conflicts between people and humanity that wolud not learn of God's ways in quiet and rest and peace, is compelled to learn through combat, through a disaster, through suffering, destruction and death"

Dr Schulman characterized President Wilson's policy towards the war as "the greatest work of his administration"

"It has been said that the President's policy was weak and unwise I say it is strong with self-restraint and wise with prophetic foresight America will be called upon to play a great role when this war will approach its end, and it can only play that role and it can only exert influence on behalf of freedom and of right, if it comes with skirts absolutely clean ,with the record of the strictest kind of neutrality."

MORE THAN TWO MILLION BELGIAN REFUGEES IN FRANCE

By Associated Press

Paris Jan There are now more than two million Belgian refugees in France Monsieur Berardi secretary of the Franco Belgian relief committee has informed the Associated Press

France has received them with the greatest consideration and generosity he said the government allowing them the same amount as their own unemployed 2 cents per day to each head of a family plus 10 cents for each child This of course is sufficient to keep them from starvation but nearly all of them have other pressing needs as they fled in a majority of cases with insufficient clothing and lacking other necessities We are doing all we can aided by the French government to solve the problem by finding employment for such as are able to work but France has her own stricken population in the northern departments to care for and Belgium is obliged to appeal to other generous nations for these people whose need as the world knows is not their fault

Monsieur Berardi said Belgium would never forget what America has already done for Brussels where the population was on the verge of starvation

The first refugees that arrived were sheltered at the Circue de Paris and at the Northern terminal but these quarters summarily prepared were inadequate for the accommodation of so many persons living all out entirely in common Now several hundred canal and river barges are being fitted up with more comforts and sanitary arrangements for their reception Hundreds of children who have lost their parents have been adopted by French and Swiss families and many owners of villas in the country have placed them at the disposition of Belgian families These measures relieve the pressure on the committee somewhat but the refugees continue to arrive

A movement is on foot to establish colonies in Tunois for such as wish to emigrate but the proposition is said to be no more likely to succeed than the suggestion to send them to California The Belgian as a rule is not inclined to emigrate habituated as he has been to steady and fairly remunerative employment in the industrial bee hive that Belgium was before the war

English spinning industry has given palces to 600 Belgian workmen and many have secured berths on the Metropolitan underground railway in Paris others have been placed on farms in the south and center of France but the large part of these two million unfortunates is still to be provided for

I can furnish a pure sweet Apple Juice at 60c per gallon tin that will keep perfectly until you open it for use and is just as it came from the press.

IN THE SPHERE OF WOMANKIND

The Soiled Skirt.

The evening bells was ringing and the streets was filled with dew,
When down town came a working girl to meet her lover true.
He said that he would take her to a moving picture show,
And, as she waited for him, she was eager for to go.
At last he came and met her as she stood there on the street.
He gave her the once-over from her head down to her feet.
"Say, Mame," he said, "yer skirt looks bum for it is torn and patched.
And there is spots all over it, and no
two spots is matched Yer waist is pretty decent, and I will pass up yer hat,
But I can't go out with a dame who wears a skirt like that!"
The poor girl looked down at her skirt and saw the ragged hem,
She never thought her fellow would say cruel words like them;
At last she raised her head, and though the tears was in her eye
She bravely faced that fellow and did make this here reply
Chorus—
"I know you now for what you are and I will go my way
You are ashamed of me because my skirt ain't new and gay.
Your words is awful cruel and you don't know how they hurt
The loving heart that beats beneath this soiled and ragged skirt!"

ENGLISHMEN CEASE TO CRITICISE GOVERNMENT

Adverse Comments On Its Preparation For War Are No Longer Being Heard

By Associated Press

London, Jan —Criticism of the government's war preparation which was rampant during the early stages of the war has largely ceased. Indicating that the general public has either settled down to the belief that every thing is being done about as well as possible, or has tired of writing letters to the press.

The war office has now enlisted the services of business men with experience in carrying out big enterprises to take part in the work of supplying the army, and the labor unions have volunteered to watch the execution of government contracts, not only to see that proper equipment and rations are supplied to the soldiers, but to prevent sweating.

Arnold White, a prominent writer and former colonial official has been making a thorough inspection of the training camps for the purpose of detecting any scandal and mismanagement. Having been a bitter enemy of the Liberal government his point of view was not prejudiced in its favor He writes.

"Having visited thirty-six camps in various parts of the country, I am thoroughly cheered in the majority of cases business men are handling the difficult problems of war. Dwellers inland have no conception of the thoroughness, efficiency and silence with which the War Office and the Admiralty have co-operated for the business of preventing a German raid or invasion.

"The alarm that is still felt in some parts of these islands is wholly unjustified, because, firstly the business efficiency of the Fleet under Jellicoe has increased since war began, and, secondly, because the practical measures adopted by our military engineers if generally known, would enable the timid to sleep quietly in their beds. If I were out to pick holes in our Administration it would not be in the general management of the war."

Only a few more days remain in which to pay your tax and avoid the ten per cent penalty that will be added after the last day of January. Most of us will argue that taxes are already high a plenty without any ten per cent penalty but it is the law and there is now no hope that it will be changed.

It's all right to begin saving up for next Christmas, but dont let that prevent you from taking out a poll tax receipt before February 1st. If you do it means that you have by your negligence disfranchised yourself for one year and even at that will have to pay the poll tax with ten per cent added to it.

Wheat is selling on the streets of Wichita Falls today for $1.40 per bushel. That's just about twice as much as the bulk of the 1914 wheat crop sold for last summer and during the early fall. It may go even higher. There is considerable wheat in the hands of farmers yet and some of them will hold a while longer.

There is this much to be said in favor of the Germans. So far they have not even been charged with having forced the lowering of an American flag on an American vessel and substituting their own. Were that country to do such a thing she would do it at the sacrifice of all her friends and sympathizers in her present trouble who reside over here and claim to be American citizens.

Governor Ferguson's first message to the Legislature reads like a strong document and if the Legislature gives him the proper support every demand made by the El Paso convention will be enacted into law. And while this newspaper did not support Governor Ferguson principally for the reason that it could not see its way clear to endorse some of the reforms advocated by him—principally the farm tenant problem the El Paso convention adopted his suggestion along that line and incorporated them into the Democratic platform. Now it is squarely up to the Democratic party to say whether platforms are made merely for vote catching purposes and for men to ride into office upon, or are to be lived up to and enacted into law.

The Texas Corn Growers Association held its convention or show at Waxahachie Jan. 19-20 and it was the largest attended and the most successful affair that has been held since the organization of the association. At these shows the towns or cities in which they are held offer cash prizes for the largest ear of corn, the largest and best sample or head of kaffir corn, maize, feterita, etc., and the contestants are many. At the wind up of the show the samples are sold to the highest bidder and the proceeds of the same used to defray the expense of the organization as far as it will go. The association has never yet held its convention in West Texas but an effort will be made this year to have it brought to this part of the State. If Wichita Falls wants to put in a bid for this worthy exhibition or show now is the time to get busy and as The Times understands it the proper way to make application is to get in touch with the secretary of the organization whose postoffice address is at Gainesville who will be glad to furnish all information that is necessary regarding how to proceed in the matter of securing the next show, or rather the mid winter show, as the association holds two conventions each year. The work of growing corn and feed crops in this part of the State needs to be encouraged in every way possible and a good way to make a start in that direction is giving encouragement to an association that has that work cut out for its chief purpose.

The report come that ex-Governor Malcolm Patterson of Tennessee is to be a candidate for United States senator next year. Mr. Patterson was a candidate for this high office four years ago and lacked only few votes of election. At that time the ex-governor was an anti-prohibitionist and perhaps the most accomplished cusser in the Volunteer State. One night he was found drunk in a house of ill fame and arrested. He then quit drinking and joined the church. Everybody must rejoice over the change in the life of Patterson but those who remember his treatment of the lamented Carmack and his pardon of Carmack's slayer will be slow to wish him success in his race for senator.—Honey Grove Signal.

THE PLAN AND ITS END

The plan to create a fund of $11,000,000 to be used in making advances on cotton and removing a big part of the crop from the visible supply seeking a market was brought forward with some measure of pretentiousness. The proponents of the plan were men who stand high in business and financial life men who could command attention. As a result the newspapers, the bankers, the merchants and to some extent the cotton growers listened with keen interest and attention to the proposal. And why not? The depressed condition of cotton had created a situation of concern and stress. The movement might well claim attention. It promised a measure of relief that seemed to hold much good and for a while it was regarded as a most commendable and helpful measure. The southern cotton grower was told: We are doing this for you and you must accept the help after the manner with the regulations we prescribe. It is all we can do for you, and you are advised to accept it. Incidentally there were hints that the Southern cotton grower ought to be duly grateful.

The plan was formulated and the details made known. Plenty of money now to care for cotton it was said. But as people began to investigate the details the stipulations the enthusiasm on the part of Southern people—cotton growers, bankers and merchants—did not grow. There was somewhat of disappointment in fact for it was realized that the plan was hardly what was hoped for. The conditions were numerous and somewhat onerous. There was too much red tape too much room for delay some requirements not altogether reasonable and as for money—well it was realized that about all the grower would get (if he got any loan) would be say twenty dollars a bale. Practical men here in the South saw at once that the plan would not bring about what the promoters (no matter how commendable their purpose) said they had in view. The more the plan was analyzed did the South realize that it was not what was needed or hoped for that the man most concerned (the individual cotton grower) would be slow to utilize the proffered accommodation—if he utilized it at all. Bankers, merchants and newspapers realized the situation. Three weeks ago the Tribune predicted that Texas cotton growers would hardly come into the movement.

What was anticipated has come to pass. The news comes from Washington that the South holds aloof that there is virtually no disposition to accept what measure of accommodation and relief this plan holds—and simply because of its impracticable features its peculiar demands and requirements. The simple truth is that the plan challenged the self respect of cotton growers. We know how they regarded it and we cannot challenge the justice of their attitude. It is stated now that on February 1 the proposal will not be open any longer no more loans will be considered after that date. It is plain to see what that means. It means the abandonment of the movement. It has been tried and found wanting and the promoters as practical men will not give further time or thought to it. They will take their money out of the pool put it to use in other ways and we do not blame them.

We must believe the movement was put on foot in good faith and by men who meant well whose purpose was in a way commendable. It is not right nor would it profit anybody to speak disparagingly to show lack of appreciation of the motives and purpose that underlaid the movement. It was a mistake and that is all. The men who evolved and shaped the plan believed they knew the South, new the situation and had the remedy. But they didn't and let it go at that. It is satisfaction to believe that no man is out of pocket by reason of his interest in the movement.

It is a disappointment though. The south turned to it eagerly with much hope and confidence and there was something more than chagrin when our people realized that this was a case when honest anticipation was to meet with disappointment. We asked for bread not a stone and more than one southerner. His smile was too drastic and was somewhat unjust too but his chagrin is not to be wondered at.—Waco Tribune.

One Belgian Soldier

(From With the War Photographers in Belgium by A. R. Williams in the Outlook.)

I got separated from the party and was making my way alone when I was startled to hearing a sharp Hello ringing up the street. I turned to see not one of the photographers but a full armed Belgian soldier waving his hand at me.

Hello, he shouted, are you an American?

I could hardly believe my eyes or my ears, but shouted back: Yes, yes, I am an American. Are you?

You betcha, he replied coming quickly up to me.

What are you doing down here fighting? I asked.

What the hell you think I'm doing? he rejoined.

Now are you really an American? I queried.

You betcha, he replied. I'm a Belgian reservist, my name is August Ridden. I come from Wagner, Wisconsin, and I'm out here on scout duty.

Been in any battles?

You betcha.

Kill any Germans?

You betcha.

Do you enjoy it?

You betcha.

Any around here now?

You betcha. A lot of them down in the bushes over the brook. Then suddenly with light gleaming in his eyes as if overjoyed with such an inspired idea he exclaimed, confidentially: Come right down with me and you can take a potshot at them with my rifle. He said it like a man offering a rare treat to his best friend.

I wanted to exhibit proper zest about this little shooting affray and at the same time decline with proper thanks. So I said eagerly: Now you are dead sure the Germans are down there? implying that of course I couldn't waste any time unless the shooting was good.

You betcha, they're down there. You can see their green gray uniforms. I counted sixteen or seventeen of them.

The thought of that sixteen to one shot made my cheeks take on the color of the German uniforms. The naked truth was my last resort. It was the only thing that stood now between me and my friend dragging me forcibly down to the brookside. So when Ridden asked: What's the matter, you afraid? I replied: You betcha.

WANTS WICHITA FALLS TO GET CORN-GROWERS MEETING

This City Can Secure Next Convention of State Association It Is Believed

Wichita Falls, Heretofore or some time longer, specially in West Texas can secure the next meeting of the Texas Corn Growers Association if the proper interest is shown, says Judge [illegible] of Hereford, who stopped off here last night for a visit with his brother-in-law, John Kerr, while en route home after attending the mid winter meeting of the association at Waxahachie.

Judge Cough says that the Waxahachie meeting was the largest held in the history of the association and that the exhibits were the best ever seen at an exhibition of the association. He believes that the bringing of the show to West Texas would arouse much interest and would be of great benefit to this section of the State as well as to the advertisement for the city in which the show is held.

It will be necessary for the city that wants the show, he says, to take the initiative in getting up a premium list in which progressive farmers in all parts of the State will participate as they did at Waxahachie. Two meetings of the association are held annually. Judge Cough wants to see the next meeting held at either Hereford or Wichita Falls. He believes the Chamber of Commerce here should take up the matter at once with the officers of the association.

The objects of the Texas Corn Growers Association are set forth in the following declaration:

1. To create a more general interest in the practical and scientific study of corn and other grain plants.

2. To promote the practical scientific study of corn [illegible], methods of cultivation and methods of securing improved strains of corn and small grains.

3. To promote the growing of pure bred seed of all kinds throughout the State of Texas.

4. To establish a bureau for the inspection of grain grown by seed breeders and to furnish certificates of type and breeding of same.

To provide protection to farmers who desire to purchase pure bred seeds by supplying such information as will enable them to distinguish the different varieties, and by supplying them with the names of reliable seed breeders.

5. To aid and protect in every legitimate way the breeders of high grade seed and to aid them in their efforts to furnish farmers with seeds of superior quality.

6. To establish score cards and standards of perfection for each variety recognized as suitable for South Western conditions.

ARAB CITY HOLDS FABULOUS WEALTH

SOLDIER'S DREAM OF LOOTING IT MAY SOON BE REALIZED

MOHAMMEDAN SECT'S MECCA

Faithful Have Poured Gold and Jewels Into Its Coffers For Many Centuries

Washington Jan —Mystic buried in the exclusive sands of the desert almost unknown by the white man, the Arab City of Nedjef, Mecca of the Shia Mohammedans, born of and for a religion, contains within its walls of sun dried brick a treasure house rich beyond fable, the Shia St Peter's into which a stream of gold and jewels has poured for centuries, and over the looting of which many an empire building soldier has sweetened his dreams while sleeping on the battle fields of India and elsewhere in Asia Nedjef has become hostile land and the wonderful mosque of gold and precious stones is exposed as a possible objective of invaders Frederick Simpich one of the few white men of any race to have made a visit to hidden Nedjef has transmitted an account of this strangest of cities to the National Geography Society He writes

It is five days by mule or camel caravan from Bagdad to Nedjef and in the eventful centuries since the Shias founded Nedjef—on the spot where a nephew of the Prophet Mohammed was slain—it is estimated that over 25 000 000 Moslems have made the pilgrimage to this mysterious desert city of golden domes fabulous treasures and weird rites Thousands of devotees from the Shia hordes of India Persia and South Russia flock through Bagda deach year, bringing with them 100 feet below the street Down into for burial in the holy ground about the mystic city'

Each member of the Shia sect must make the pilgrimage to this holiest of his shrines the city toward which through life he bows in worship the unnatural city bound up in the desert's spell into which the treasures of all his fellows in faith are flowing for their spiritual welfare Each member of the Shia sect expects to be buried in the sacred earth within the city's walls where millions upon millions of past Shias have turned the sands to clay This enormous graveyard about the city is not the least part of its weird fascination The desert trail to the sacred city is empty barren and dead It is an unattractive trail whose silence is only broken by fanatic pilgrims and by caravans transporting corpses to the Shia Mecca of the dead Of the city Mr Simpich says

No Vegetation Seen

Nedjef is a freak city Not a green thing—a plant shrub or trees—lives within its dry ho tlimits It is built on a high plain of soft sandstone The narrow crooked streets in many places mere passages of 3 or 4 feet wide wind like jungle paths One of the strange features of this strange city is its cellars In summer the fierce heat drives the panting people deep down into the earth, like rats in a hole Beneath every house is a cellar burrowed mine like to amazing depths, one I explored reached an astoundingly low level, being more than 100 feet below the street Down into these damp dark holes the Shias flee when the scorching desert air sizzles above and imported German thermometers stand at 130 Fahrenheit Some of the cellars are arranged in a tier of cells or rooms one below the other the upper room is used in the first hot months the family going lower down as the heat increases Many of these cellars are connected by underground corridors, and the criminals, who swarm in Nedjef, easily elude capture by passing through these tunnels from house to house"

The mosque, Mr Simpich describes as covered with great gold tiles which run to its very base For ages, he says, the rich of this faith have made precious presents to this temple until its vaults are bulging with pent-up treasure The city has no industry, no commerce—nothing that is apart from its religious purpose It supports itself upon the money of the pilgrims, lodges them, feeds them, robs them, sells them prayer-bricks made from the graveyard clay, and even marries them for the period of their visit to perennial brides, brides kept in stock, who legally have many husbands in their lives As a war significance of this city, the explorer tells

"A British Indian army officer told me that the looting of the Nedjef mosque was a favorite dream of the soldiers in the Middle East who looked forward to the day when war may sweep an army of invasion into Nedjef'

Berlin Jan —A German artillerist writing from Bapaume, France, tells of the death of a French aviator who was brought down by German gunners

Today I saw a French aviator brought down by our guns he said The French flyers had been growing bolder and bolder especially in reconnoitring behind our front, and so we concealed a half battery of howitzers in a village about four miles to the rear in order to teach them a lesson Things happened as we expected by eight o'clock in the morning there came an aeroplane, sailing along with the greatest assurance in the world The guns at the front were not permitted to fire and after passing them the aviator, thinking all danger past, kept coming lower and lower reaching finally a level of only about 1,000 feet Not suspecting that he would encounter German artillery so far to the rear he came within easy shooting distance for our gunners in the village

Suddenly two shots were heard, two little white clouds were observed in the air not far from the aeroplane The aviator remained virtually at the same spot, until he was almost enveloped by the next two cloudlets one shot exploded just in front of him the other just behind him Our men had gotten their range quickly Then followed two more shots one a little to the right, the other just to the left The aeroplane seemed to waver, as if it had been damaged It did not seem to obey its steering gear for it could not get away from the spot

"The next two shots fired almost simultaneously settled its fate The first one cut off a wing smoothly The other was a square hit, and the apparatus was scattered to the four winds I have not seen such a beautiful shot in the whole war The gun pointer who fired it had already distinguished himself on several occasions and he won the iron cross with today's achievement The fragments of this aeroplane were picked up afterwards from a wide reach of ground, but of the aviator only a few bits were found

Yesterday the letter continued we set up some boards in an abandoned position to resemble a gun shield Then we sawed off some logs and painted them to look like cannon muzzles when placed in position between the boards Today the French peppered away at this supposed battery and fired 172 shots before their aviators could tell them that the had been duped

BATTLE PANORAMA IN WEST FLANDERS

CORRESPONDENT GETS VIEW OF IMMENSE FIELD OF OPERATIONS

RUINED TOWNS HELD BY TROOPS

Villages Reduced To Nothing Except Heaps of Debris Are Stubbornly Fought For

By Associated Press

Furnes West Flanders Jan —From the windmill standing outside ruined Ramscapelle the Associated Press correspondent had an exceptional opportunity to view a battle panorama on a day when the winter sunshine was as clear as the atmosphere of a Colorado plateau

From the sand dunes of Nieuport to the rolling country beyond Dixmude the Flemish lowlands were spread out like a map The day was one of the liveliest along the Yser since the Germans were checked in their rush towards Pas de Calais Signs of activity began the night before when for hours thousands of French African troops marched through Furnes on their way to hold the vital gateway of Nieuport

That this movement was unknown to the Germans was discovered when a division of this army bivouacked for the night in a small village near Furnes was bombarded by the big Teuton howitzers which began to rain shells on the place within half an hour after the weary marchers had settled down for a few hours rest Every house in the village suffered from the shells and the loss of life among the troops was heavy

At dawn, from the windmill great white puffs could be seen in the western sky beyond Nieuport where the Anglo French fleet was beginning the bombardment of the Belgian coast This was intended to cover an infantry advance against Lombaertz dead St Georges the two most advanced posts held by the Germans

'Occupied' Abused Term

Occupied in a military sense has become a very elastic term along the Yser battlefront Nieuport is claimed by the allies while Lombaertzyde is a German possession but neither can be called possible for human habitation while the troops, marching back and forth through the debris piled streets are under constant hail of artillery fire But these points must be held, and the African troops marched through impassively towards the trenches while coming out of the trenches in front of Lombaertzyde were squads of French Alpine chasseurs with their picturesque uniforms caked with mud and with drawn and haggard faces

Trying to stop the advance of the French reinforcements, the German guns searched Nieuport battering the ruined houses like a dog shaking a dead rabbit Beyond the Nieuport canal French batteries were posted and about ten in the morning these came into play with a echo which jarred the earth for miles around

In the momentary pauses when the smoke from the French 'seventy five' cleared away six inch shells from the German howitzers came dropping into the fields where they threw up geysers of mud and black smoke Peasants plowed their fields apparently unconcerned with the tremendous war drama on the stage of which they seemed unconscious interlopers

Big Balloon Ascends

Suddenly just beyond St Georges the big German observation balloon was seen to ascend and hang in the quiet air Signs of activity became general all along the Yser From Nieuport a body of troops could be seen moving at the double quick down the only dry road towards St Georges but soon disappeared from observation in the smoke from the machine guns Later it was learned that this infantry advance one of the first attempted since the Germans had been halted along the Yser had gained several trenches

It was now mid day As if halting for lunch the thunder of the guns died away only to be resumed in a desultory fashion during the afternoon Except the occasional growl of a single howitzer evidently aimed at the gas tank on the edge of Nieuport the late afternoon was spent in taking toll of the days operations Battalion after battalion of Africans marched into Nieuport, fresh and with the buoyant step of trained soldiers Red Cross cars carried the wounded towards the rear while canal barges disgorged enormous stacks of food for men in the trenches.

Oriental Methods of Buying Texas Oil Products

Millions of natives in the Oriental countries buy oils made in Texas by The Texas Company—most of these natives cannot read or write, and the few who can know little about the English language. Nevertheless, they insist upon buying the oil they find most valuable and they recognize it by the picture.

The Five-Pointed Star and Green T emblem goes on every case which is shipped from Port Arthur by The Texas Company, whether kerosene, gasoline, lubricating oil, etc. To identify the kerosene another picture is added, by which the natives can recognize it.

In the illustration above the picture which is used for India is shown This picture of Vishnu, one of the supreme trinity of the Brahmins revered all through that vast country, but particularly so by the Vishnavites by whom he is regarded as the equal or superior of Brahma and is styled Vishnu, the Preserver

To the natives of China the Texaco kerosene is identified by a picture of a pair of scales.

In the Philippines the Carabao is the animal best known and used for drawing loads of all kinds, and the Carabao Kerosene of The Texas Company is known as the best for light

Hercules, Tower, Matador, Unicorn and other pictures adorn the cases for various countries, and by these pictures the goods are sold. It would not do to send a Carabao picture to India, nor a Vishnu picture to the Philippines, but for each country the picture represents something they will understand and something they can identify.

With all these pictures, however, goes the Red Five-pointed Star and Green T emblem of Texaco service and reputation. In your town you can buy the oil products of The Texas Company with the same Star and T brand. Better try them

HOME GUARD COMPANIES DISCOURAGED IN ENGLAND

Receive Little Official Support Because of Unwillingness To Serve Abroad

By Associated Press

London, Jan 19—The home guard organization which have sprung up like mushrooms since the bombardment of the Hartlespool and Scarborough complain that they are not only receiving small support from the war office but are being discouraged by Lord Kitchener

The idea of the home guard is an armed semi military organization ready to be called out in case of a German invasion of the British Isles Only those who can show good cause for not enlisting in the regular army are supposed to join These include men over the age of active service civil servants and men engaged in the manufacture of arms and war material

One regulation imposed by the war office which has done much to take the enthusiasm out of the home guard movement, is that requiring the members to sign an agreement to enlist in the army for foreign service if called upon to do so by the war office There is no legal way to enforce such a promise, but the members feel it as a strong moral obligation Recruiting officers have been visiting the corps already to induce enlistments in the regular force Another discouraging war office order relates to equipment Only arms and ammunition are supplied and it is forbidden the corps to wear uniforms except a sleeve band or any badges or titles of rank a thing that makes discipline and drill difficult

To get around the uniform question the men have been supplying themselves with a civilian dress of uniform color and cut and made somewhat on military line

The suggestion has been made that the volunteers if unable to secure concessions from the war office regarding the objectionable rules go to Ireland to establish an independent home guard This would act without official sanction but would do what it could to aid recruiting

It is charged that the war office aims to prevent any such joining the civilian guard who would be liable to service were the country put under conscription

LARGE TANK OF GASOLINE IS ENDANGERED BY FIRE

Prompt Work By Department Stops Blaze at Oriental Storage Station

Prompt work by the fire department at noon today prevented what might easily have been a serious blaze at the Oriental Oil Company's storage station near the foundry. When the department reached the scene a quantity of lubricating oil stored in a small building on the premises was found aflame. This fire was close to a large tank containing several thousands of gallons of gasoline which was in danger of becoming ignited. The flames were extinguished without any serious damage, however.

A GOOD DOCTOR and a competent druggist go a long way toward restoring the patient to health. However if your druggist is interested in other lines more than he is in Pharmacy you should not expect results. A druggist should know intimately the science of medicine including doses and effect because the doctor who has mastered the art of diagnosis is indeed a great physician even if he did not know the dose of calomel. The mind is too small to know the human body, it's diseases and then remember medicine. The knowledge of medicine is our part of the burden. A prescription represents the confidence of a patient, a family and a physician and the man whose ignorance or indifference betrays this confidence is a criminal. We are selling drugs.

WE CLEAN AND PRESS

the finest suits in Wichita Falls. We look after the best wardrobes in the city. There is a reason for this. If we did not give absolute satisfaction in both work and price we would never be able to hold this business. We do one hundred cents worth of work for the dollar. We know that seventy-five cents worth of work scattered over a dollar job would never do with the class of people who patronize our shop. The American people get what they pay for. If the price is too cheap the work is the same way. We clean and press your suit for ONE DOLLAR because the dollar is right; more is too much, less is not enough. Our guarantee is wide open with no strings to it. IF

WE DON'T PLEASE YOU DON'T PAY.

ARE YOU

One of those human derelicts who disregard every obligation and duty you owe to your loved ones, and the citizenship in which you live. Our cemetery today should be the pride of every citizen, and yet there are towns like Graham and Crowell, Texas, that can put us to shame when it comes to the care of their burial grounds. If every citizen in this big, prosperous city would put forth a little effort we could make it worth while, and the talk of every visitor.

We sod, fill in and otherwise beautify your plot. Now, in case you haven't the time, just phone us.
